Summer 2022

The warm season is upon us! At Cote d'Or Imports, the quality of your wine is our primary concern, and that quality could be compromised if delivered without taking the weather into account. We have compiled the best possible list of specialty delivery options in order to combat the warm temperatures. Please take a moment to review those options below and see which of them you would prefer:

Ocean Freight Shipping:

Our temperature-controlled ocean freight is ideal for those who are not in a rush to receive their wines. Every step of the way is temperature-controlled until your order arrives and is safely stored in our US wine warehouse. From there, you can select either the free storage/NYC delivery options or you can upgrade your final leg of delivery for additional fees with our summer final mile upgrade (see below):

Free storage

Your wines are stored in our temperature-controlled US wine warehouse until weather is appropriate for delivery (September or later depending on delivery climate). No additional fees

New York City:

Our NYC partners will proceed with refrigerated delivery throughout the summer (between 10AM and 2PM weekdays). We will be in touch with you in order to schedule delivery. (Adds approx. 2 weeks for transport and delivery scheduling). No additional fees

For a flat cost of 49€/case of 6 or 12 bottles, our well seasoned shipping team will analyze every aspect of your shipment and select the temperature-controlled or express shipping options that will allow for the quickest and safest delivery of your wines.

Once we have received your final order, we will forward details of your personalized summer delivery solution. Please note, some options might require a business address for delivery or pickup at a Fedex/UPS location. We will let you know if that is the case for your order.
